Prenatal Care – Chiropractic care establishes pelvic balance and alignment. When the pelvis is misaligned it may reduce the amount of room available for the developing baby. A misaligned pelvis may also make it difficult for the baby to get into the best possible position for delivery.

Mom +Baby - Since significant spinal and cranial trauma can occur at birth, many parents have their newborns checked right after birth. Mom usually complains of mid back, neck and shoulder pain as a result of breast feeding, holding baby, and lack of sleep.

Kids - As your child begins to participate in regular childhood activities like skating or riding a bike they will inevitably experience traumas associated with these activities. Small yet significant spinal misalignments may occur. If neglected, the injuries during this period of rapid growth may lead to more serious problems later in life.

Teens – Most teens today spend their time in front of a computer, playing video games, or using their cell phones. This places an abnormal amount of stress on a young spine. Most teens are on their way to having an “old lady hump” before they hit 20 years of age.
